RED BIRDS FLY

Flying weather over the South China Sea is mostly good during the spring season. Almost daily planes of the small Chinese Nationalist air force have been fanning out from the air fields on Formosa to attack targets on the mainland.

The other day a pair of former U. S. Mustangs headed for Hang-show Bay, south of Shanghai, which had been an exclusive hunting preserve for Chiang Kai-shek's unopposed fliers. The planes were jumped by a formation of four or five Russian-built fighters. Both Nationalist planes were shot down. One pilot got back to tell the story of the first air resistance offered by the Chinese communists in four years of war.

While the Nationalist fliers could range at will over the mainland as they have been doing, the communists were off balance and on the defensive. Now the situation has changed. With Russian planes and Russian trained pilots patrolling the skies the temporary Nationalist advantage has petered out.

Chinese speak ironically even in anger. The presence of red birds, the Nationalist said, was a flagrant act of Soviet aggression. That is true. It is also true that the Nationalists are in a very serious spot. Denied arms by President Truman, Chiang's army is roosting on Formosa, fearful of the ultimate outcome.

Little supplies are reaching Formosa, the Nationalist army of more than 100,000 men is eating its head off. Chiang is convinced he needs a large army to invade the mainland when the Third World War starts. He thinks it will come this year.

Foreign observers, watching Chinese communist preparations along the Chinese coast line, feel that the only way to be fought this year will be on the beaches of Formosa.

GLOBAL LOAN SHARK

There are stringent laws against loan sharks in this country. The most vicious racketeer would not try, in exchange for a small loan, advice and protection, to get the borrower to sign over half his income for life. But there is no enforceable international law against nations that choose to be usurers.

So the only law against what Russia is doing to China is the moral law. Russia isn't bound by that, either. So it isn't news that Russia is already slicing off a pound of flesh as the price of her promise to lend $300,000,000 to red China.

In the huge northwestern province of Sinkiang joint Sino-Soviet companies have been formed, which isn't as innocent or technical as it sounds. What it means is that, of every two barrels of oil or two tons of ore produced in Sinkiang, Russia takes one and impoverished China gets the other. Meanwhile, Chinese sovereignty is being whittled away.

No loan shark ever exacted as high a price.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 3, 1901. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published at Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The annual meeting of the Bristol Gun Club was held in the Olympia boat house at Jones' shipyard on Tuesday evening. The following officers were elected to serve for ensuing year: President, George Buckley; treasurer, Warner Allen; secretary, Ellis E. Ratcliffe. Arrangements were made for another contest next year and a committee appointed with Harry McLaughlin as chairman, to procure a medal to be awarded to the member who wins the greatest number of matches in 10 monthly shoots, commencing with the third Saturday in November.

Fidelity Council, No. 2, Jr. O. U. A. M., has taken possession of its new quarters in the postoffice building.

A construction crew started to work on Monday morning to rebuild the trolley road of the old Bristol and Philadelphia Passenger Railway Company. Operations were commenced at the Bristol terminus at the corner of Bath and Otter streets. The old ties are being removed and new ones replaced and the bed ballasted. New poles are being put in position, and those in authority claim that the line will be thoroughly rebuilt, equipped and put in operation as quickly as the work can be finished.

The road is now owned by the Neshaminy Elevated Railway Co. Last Thursday Mother Catherine (Miss Drexel) and four sisters from the Cornwells Convent left for Santa Fe, New Mexico. From there they will go to a point 200 miles west where an Indian mission will be established.

Queen Hephzibah, of the gypsies that were encamped at the forks of the River and State roads, called upon a young bachelor of Crofton. . . and insisted in looking into the dark realms of the future. . . She informed him that he was about to take upon himself the awful responsibility of a wife and in due time a family of 13 or a baker's dozen would follow.

net; and she carried white roses. Her sister, Miss Aida Aquilone, who served as maid of honor, was attired in Nile green taffeta, wore silver slippers; and the flowers in her hair and those which composed her bouquet were yellow roses. The flower girl, Roseann Aquilone, New York, N. Y., a niece of the bride, wore a gown of pink taffeta, small matching hat, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of mixed flowers.

Mr. James Orino, 815 Garden street, was best man for Mr. Elmer. Three hundred guests attended a reception in Sons of Italy hall at seven p. m. Leaving for two weeks automobile trip to Miami, Fla., Mr. Elmer wore a black dress and accessories, coral topper, and a corsage of gardenias. The two will reside in an apartment at 1119 Radcliffe street.

Choice of Mrs. Aquilone for the ceremony was a black dress, and accessories of the same color; while Mrs. Elmer, mother of the bridegroom, wore a navy blue print dress and matching accessories. Both wore baby orchids.

The bride graduated from Bristol high school. Her husband spent four years in the U. S. Navy.

Basile-Capella

The marriage of Miss Veronica J. Capella to Mr. Joseph F. Basile was an event of interest here on the first Sunday after Easter, eight young women attending the bride. The nuptial ceremony, in St. Ann's R. C. Church at the hour of 11, united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Capella, 452 Logan street, and the son of Mrs. Dominick Caratozolo, New York, N. Y. Mr. Basile has been residing on Spruce street.

"The Rosary" was sung by Mrs. James DiNunzio, of Penned, her accompanist being Miss Frances Tamburella.

The bride, who entered the edifice on the arm of her father, wore a gown of ice blue satin and Chantilly lace, entrain. Her lace headpiece of the same color tone held in place an ice blue veil. The bodice of her gown as well as the long sleeves were of lace, and a panel of lace extended down the front of the costume. The train was seven yards in length. The bride wore white satin slippers. As she entered the church she carried a white prayer book on which rested a white orchid this having a shower of valley lilies. This was exchanged at the altar for an arm bouquet of calla lilies, carried in the recessional.

The group of attendants of the bride was inclusive of: Maid of honor, Miss Elizabeth Marino, Dorrance street, gowned in pink; bridesmaids, asking that body to pass appropriate resolutions to have the Frankford and Bristol turnpike improved and maintained in some uniform and permanent manner, as will secure to the residents of the county the benefits intended to be so secured to them by the county commissioners in such public highways.

David T. Williams, aged 22, was killed on the railroad at Frankford Junction last Friday. Williams was an employee of the company and stepped off of one track to get out of the way of a freight when he was struck by a fast line. . . The deceased is survived by a wife and child.

While taking water from the track tanks at South Bristol yesterday morning the scoop of a passenger engine dropped too low and ripped out a section of the trough.

Dr. William Martin, of Bristol, and Miss Elizabeth Kaighn were married this morning at the Friends meeting house, Moorestown, N. J.

The first meeting of the Langhorne Sorosis was held on Thursday afternoon at Mrs. Alfred Marshall's, the president, Miss Susan W. Gillam, occupying the chair, with Mrs. Frank C. Osmond as recording secretary, Miss Mary T. Simpson as corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. Howard Marshall as treasurer. Mrs. Andrew M. Bye and Mrs. Sara E. Allen, with Miss Laura H. Candy and Mrs. George K. Johnson, as alternates, were elected delegates to the state federation at Reading, October 16th, 17th and 18th. A class for physical culture will be started under the direction of Miss Mary Miller Jones, of Philadelphia.

What is believed to be one of the most exciting races that ever took place on the Delaware occurred Sunday between the Bristol boats Helen, Pebe, and Olympia. The starting point was on a line between Dr. Abbott's yacht and Burlington Island Park wharf. . . The Helen . . . crossed the line amid the cheers of the crews and people on shore. She sailed the course in 1 hr., 28 min., coming in six minutes ahead of the Pebe and 12 minutes, 33 seconds, ahead of the Olympia.

Miss Yolanda Pirri, Adams street, Miss Helen Clotti, Dorrance street, who is an aunt of the bride, Mrs. Richard Dickinson, Crofton, Miss Margaret Gallia, Logan street, dressed in blue; junior bridesmaids, Lois Capella, sister of the bride, and Carmella Rossi, Logan street, wearing pink; and flower girl, Constance Clotti, Chestnut street, cousin of the bride, attired in blue. The octette looked attractive in gowns which had bodices and triple-trimmed skirts of marquisette. These featured off-shoulder effect. Elbow-length brocade mitts matched the individual gowns. Their picture hats were also of the brocade, as well as their parasols, these matching the gowns. On the handle of each parasol rested a lavender orchid. Slippers of the attendants were in silver.

Men in the bridal party were: Mr. Francis Clotti, Dorrance street, uncle of the bride, as best man; Mr. Herbert Nezzetti, Newportville, Mr. Richard Dickinson, Crofton, and Mr. John Harmon, Spruce street, ushers.

The Parkway Inn was the setting for the breakfast and dinner, attended by the bridal party members. In the evening a reception took place in Roman hall, Trenton, N. J.

A suit of navy blue, with pink accessories, and a white orchid, were worn by the bride when she and her husband left for 10 days stay in the Pocono Mountains and New York, N. Y. Mrs. Basile graduated from St. Ann's commercial school. Her husband served in the U. S. Army, part of the time in Panama. The two will live at 452 Logan street.

Haines-Holeman

At the hour of two on Saturday in St. Mark's R. C. Church, Miss Caroline Holeman, daughter of Mrs. Florence Holeman, Bristol Heights, was united in matrimony to Mr. William Haines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haines, Maple Shade. The Rev. E. Paul Baird officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. Norman White, of Crofton, the bride was attired in a creation of white nylon marquisette, fashioned with an illusion neckline; yoke trimmed with lace, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, button back, and full hoop skirt, entrain. A tiara of pearls with fingertip veil, and satin ballerina slippers were worn. A triple strand pearl necklace adorned her neck, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

A sister and niece of the bridegroom served as matron of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. Dressed identically, they were Mrs. Dolores Dougherty and Miss Dolores Dougherty, of Bristol. The gowns were of marquisette, styled with illusion necklines, fitted bodices, detachable sleeves, full hoop skirts with lace inserts. The choice of Mrs. Dougherty was aquatone, and that of her daughter was peach. Crowns of flowers with short veils, and gold slippers were worn. Bouquets of yellow roses were carried.

The selection of Mrs. Holeman, mother of the bride, was a light blue taffeta dress with matching hat and accessories. Mrs. Haines, mother of the bridegroom, chose a dress of navy crepe, with matching hat and accessories. Both wore corsages of American beauty roses.

Mr. Joseph Haines served his brother as best man. Another brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Herman Haines, was the usher.

For her wedding trip, the former Miss Holeman wore a suit of two-tone blue gabardine, white blouse, small off-the-face hat, and grey accessories. The newlyweds will live at Bristol Terrace II. The bride is employed at Cornwells office of the Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Haines is employed by the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. here.

Elmer-Cochieri

Given in marriage by her father at a Saturday ceremony, Miss Cecelia Cochieri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giulio Cochieri, 918 Wood street, became the wife of Mr. Joseph Elmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Elmer, 592 Swain street. The two o'clock nuptials in St. Ann's R. C. Church, performed by the Rev. Peter Pinci, were followed by a dinner at Lehigh Farms, Falls township, for members of the bridal party and the immediate families; and a reception at 6:30 p. m., took place in St. Charles hall, Cornwells Heights.

Music included vocal selections by Mr. Daniel DiMideo, Wood street, and bridal marches by organist, Miss Rita Clotti, Wilson avenue.

Miss Henrietta Ezzi, of Uniontown, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Joseph Castor, Lafayette street, was bridesmaid. The former was costumed in pink; and Mrs. Castor in Nile green. Their gowns were of mousseline de soie over taffeta, and patterned colonial style. Lace trimmed the collars and hem-lines. The two wore picture hats of mousseline de soie. Miss Ezzi carried green carnations and wore silver slippers; while Mrs. Castor's similar cascade bouquet was composed of yellow carnations. She wore gold-toned slippers. The flower girl, Josephine, Michele, Philadelphia, was attired in yellow mousseline de soie, the full skirt having hem of pick-up style in three places where two rows of lace ruffles were revealed. Her sweetheart bonnet of lace matched the lace of her gown. Her slippers were white, and she carried a sweetheart bouquet of pink carnations.

The gown of the bride was of slipper satin, with illusion yoke edged with a bertha of silk French lace. The complete bodice was studded with seed pearls and rhinestones. Over the satin bouffant skirt was a coat effect of silk French lace, ending in a long court train of imported lace. Her long, scalloped silk illusion veil fell from a bonnet of satin and lace, studded with pearls and rhinestones. The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and roses, with a lavender orchid at the center. She wore white ballerina type slippers.

Mr. Elmer had as his best man, Mr. Lawrence Dougherty, Linden street; and usher was Mr. Hugh Arbutnot, Swain street. The ring bearer, Paul Michele, Philadelphia, carried the ring on a heart-shaped pillow.

Miss Frances Tamburella was organist for the ceremony.

Their hats, of Nile green nylon net, were open crown type, and at the back of each appeared a large bow of green net. Their natural straw color slippers matched the baskets which they carried, the baskets being filled with mixed flowers.

The bridal gown, of white satin, was made with Peter Pan collar and yoke of triptoni work over Chantilly lace. The same pattern was worked into the bouffant skirt, which featured a court train. Her fingertip veil was of French illusion, this being attached to a sweetheart tiara. Ten Easter lilies, with a lavender orchid at the center, formed the bride's arm bouquet. Slippers were of satin.

St. Ann's Society Takes Communion, Sunday Service

spoke of football coaching experiences and humorous incidents that occurred at Holy Cross College and when his Massachusetts team played a bowl game with the University of Florida.

His talk dwelt on how America loves a winner and he likened it to the drive for membership now being conducted by the society and life.

"Give everything you got in all your undertakings," said DaGrosa, "and you will be a champion and enrich and enhance the membership of the society. Give all, especially when the chips are down. Remember where there is a thought, there is an act—where there is an act, there is a habit—where there is a habit, there is a character, and where there is character there is destiny."

Continuing DaGrosa stated: "Don't be afraid to lose, but play the game the way it should be played. Learn to live and share with one another, that is education. You don't have to go to college to know everything. The essence of education is to know your fellowman and understand him."

DaGrosa explained to the society members the 15-year program of the state boxing commission whereby fighters may enter the arena not for blood or to kill but for offense and defense. The program will start as part of physical education in the lower grades of schools, although no physical contacts will be made until the youngsters reach high school. And with this and better guidance, equipment, and medical care, the danger in boxing will be removed. The commission also has a three-fold project which will protect the participants, and promoters and managers, and see that Mr. and Mrs. America gets a break.

DaGrosa admonished the "crusaders" who are attempting to do away with boxing. He compared them with the "crusaders" that attempted to abolish football in 1930. At that time, we knew we had a problem and tackled it the American way. Several players had died of football injuries that season but the fact that the problem was solved was proven last season when more people died watching a football game than playing it. We will do the same with boxing.

"Those who are trying to do away with sports in America are trying to do away with rugged individualism which made America. And the minute rugged individualism is done away with, America is staggering to its doom," were DaGrosa's words.

In closing, DaGrosa related: "Have a will to win your goal and you will be a team that can't be beaten because you won't be beaten. Follow the ball, which is your goal of membership in this case, and stay close to God and you will succeed."

At the conclusion of his speech, DaGrosa was presented with an honor certificate. The presentation was made by Joseph Marozzi, a student of the seventh grade of St. Ann's Parochial School, and had this wording: "In behalf of the Holy Name Society of St. Ann's, of Bristol, Pa., we present to you, John DaGrosa, this honor certificate for your outstanding achievements in the betterment of the Catholic youth of Pennsylvania. Our only hope is that you continue this great work and always enjoy in it the best of health."

The certificate was signed by Rev. Pinci and the following officers of the society: President, Vincent Della; vice-president, Ralph Palladino; secretary, Stephen A. Brescia; treasurer, Paul W. Pinto.

The following were inducted into the society: Gaetano Greco, Anthony Rotundo, Rosario Caro, Eugene Barbetta, Joseph DiMico, James D'Ambrosia, Frank Scordia, James Torano, Daniel DiLorenzo, Paul Lanza, Frank Palumbo, William Abate, James Sabatini, Chester Castor, John Camissi, Anthony Liberatore, James Pirolli, William Wallick, Arthur Rago, George DeAmico, Nicholas DiBlassio, Joseph Giampietro, John Monachello, Sebastian Monachello, Gaspare Favorosa, Vincent Costantino, Salvatore Imperato, Anthony Cauti, William Salerno, Anthony Mangiaracina, Gaspare Mangiaracina, Joseph Angelella, Eugene Liberatore, Frank Sagolla, Andrew Cordisco, Francis Whitaker, Joseph Liberatore, John Bobko, Gabriel Virgulti, Vito Marsiglia, William Piccotti, Alfred Angelini, Frank Esposito, Joseph Pica.

Guests at the affair included: Philip Calabrese, Philadelphia; Nicholas DiBlassio, of St. Ann's Athletic Association; John Field, Jr., of Franklin A. C.; Gaetano Greco, of the Sons of Italy; Vito Marsiglia, of Jefferson A. C.; Pasquale Minni, of the Second Ward A. C.; Angelo Liberatore, of the Mutual Aid Society; and Carmen Mignoni, of Fifth Ward Sporting Club.

Anthony Massi served as chairman of the committee with the officers and the following as members: S. Joseph Alta, John Pagione, James Whyno, Thomas Juno and Louis Donofrio.

The menu consisted of: Fruit cup, ham, scrambled eggs, potatoes, rolls and butter, coffee cake, and coffee. The tables of the meeting room were bedecked with flowers and lighted candles.

Blair once experienced that 65 miles from one friend's home the dialect change was so great the Chinese were unable to understand one another.

"There are seven tones to one character," said Mrs. Blair, "and each shading or tone means a different thing. Some of the Chinese schools are patterned after our own system."

elected to carry out the traditions and duties of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and also to take part in civic affairs at all time for the improvement of your nation and community. I wish you the best and greatest success for the coming year."

Terchon Post Cadet Corps marched and rendered selections, after which Mr. Rathke said: "It is wonderful of the cadets to take this time to come and do their bit in installation of the officers. It is now the Auxiliary's turn to install officers, and that will be done by Mrs. Rachel Montayne, past president, Department of Pennsylvania, with Mrs. Irene Moyer acting as conductress."

The following Auxiliary officers were installed: President, Mrs. Frank Wilson; senior vice president, Mrs. Mary Keller; junior vice president, Mrs. Howard Smoyer, Sr.; treasurer, Mrs. Florence Marini; secretary, Mrs. William Walpi; chaplain, Mrs. Lawrence Huffnall; conductress, Mrs. Howard Smoyer, Jr.; guard, Miss Ann Sabatini; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Clarence Schwartz; historian, Mrs. Anna Garnett; color bearers, Mrs. Dorothy Mohr, Mrs. Henry Kornstedt, Mrs. Robert Rue, Mrs. Mary Whitman; trustees, Mrs. Ruth Bassett; Mrs. Jenny Stewart, Mrs. Lillian Reeves.

Mrs. Montayne said: "These ladies I have installed are your choice of leaders, and with your help I am sure will have a very successful year. I am on call any time to your organization and am always willing to help you if I can."

"Another happy privilege given to me is to make a few presentations. Your outgoing president, Mrs.

Margaret White, is ill and unable to be here today, so I hope someone will see that she receives the flowers I was supposed to present to her." Mrs. Montayne then presented Mrs. Elizabeth Smoyer with her past chaplain's pin.

"Mr. Rathke introduced Burgess Hetherington, who said: "It is a great deal of pleasure for me to see your officers installed. I have attended many installation ceremonies for officers, but today is the first time I have seen it done without using a book. Your installing officer did that today."

"Last January I took the office of Burgess of Bristol. I am the first veteran to hold this office in 50 years. I feel sure that it was the work of the veterans that elected me to this office, and it is an honor to hold the office of Burgess of this town."

"We as veterans, by banding in organizations such as this, have strength if used in the proper way. Our obligation as veterans is to our nation and community. Many people have tried to divide the veterans; if they are able to do this we are the ones who will suffer. Veterans are very prone to take things for granted. We are not a privileged group, or above other citizens. As veterans we should have the highest ideals as we know what Americanism is. We should take an active part in all its building. All veterans should try to fill public offices to help run their community. Get out there, public office. Do not stand back and hope the other fellow will do it. If you take an active interest you can do a great deal for your town."

"You are doing a noble job with your Cadet Corps. The only satisfaction you will get from this work is in your heart. You know you are doing something for the children, besides doing for your town. Keep up the good work. All of you should give 100% support to the effort."

Burgess Hetherington informed that council meets the second Monday of each month, adding "As many as can should attend the meetings to see that councilmen you elect are doing a job. Let them see you there so they will know you are watching them. Bristol has many problems today, and council is working for the benefit of everyone. The present councilmen are not just order takers."

"A great deal on the national side is being done for veterans' hospitals. Your service officer knows what this means. We need hospitals for our veterans who gave so much when needed. The hospital situation will get worse unless we get busy and let our weight be felt. We are going to try to get hospitals back. If we as veterans don't win this fight we will lose a great deal more." In closing he said: "Take part in all local affairs 100 percent; let your public officials know what you stand for and what you want Bristol to be." He presented flowers to Miss Ann Sabatini for Mrs. Terchon on behalf of officers and members of the Terchon Post.

Mr. Hetherington introduced John Smoyer, 3rd, president of borough council.

Smoyer said: "The best thing for me to talk about is what is near and dear to my heart—Bristol. It is the oldest borough in the state of Pennsylvania, and there have been many changes over the years. Now, today, a new era has started in Bristol—an era of industry building. We have requests for over 200 water and sewer installations and other industries are making calls every day. The borough is not ready for this era for our facilities are at their lowest ebb. Instead of being able to build for this increase we have to safeguard what we already have. Every effort is being made to take care of all requests. The responsibilities of a city are enormous. In Bristol civic pride has been allowed to decline in past years. It is starting to be built up again through organizations like this one. We should all build love for our town, and with a little effort on everyone's part it can be made the best town in the world. The Terchon post has been one of the leaders in bringing back civic pride to the town."

"Last year a great surge of people was registered and voted at the election. It is your duty as citizens to take an active interest in local affairs, and the only way you can do this is by the ballot. You men know what America is, and Bristol is as much a part of America as any town or city in this great country. Leadership is needed in Bristol and we should be able to get it from veteran organizations. So if you will take a part in helping to build Bristol this will be a finer and better place in which to live. Come down and see what we are doing in council. We need the cooperation of every individual of the town to make it the kind of town you want and will be proud of." In closing Mr. Smoyer said "We are looking for leaders to come from our veterans who know more what Americanism is than we who stayed at home."

Presentations were made by Commander Kornstedt to his officers.

Miss Emma Wright, Edgely, Is the Bride of Trenton Man

EDGELY, Apr. 17 — An Edgely bride became the bride of a Trenton man, Saturday at four p. m., when Miss Emma Wright and Mr. Stanley Lawrence, Trenton, N. J., were united in marriage.

The ceremony was performed in the Union Church, here, with the Rev. Britton Peterson, Philadelphia, officiating. Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George Wright, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Stanley Masalski, as maid of honor. The best man was Mr. Fred Lawrence, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Evelyn Denblyker was organist, with Mrs. John Denblyker serving as vocalist. The selections were: "The Lord's Prayer," "Because," and "O Promise Me." The bride wore a gown of white tulle, with net yoke and lace trim, stoned down the back, long flowing skirt held up in front by lilies of the valley showing tiers of lace and finger-tip veil of illusion and lace held in place by seed pearls.

The maid of honor was gowned in lilac net lace and taffeta, featuring an off-the-shoulder neck line, top skirt pulled up with ribbons, matching mitts and white slippers. Her tiara was matching rose-buds. Immediately following the ceremony, about 100 guests were served dinner at the Penn Manor Club, its township, after which a reception was held at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Kurko. The young couple then left for a week's honeymoon at New York, N. Y. For the wedding the bride chose a suit in navy blue, with navy accessories, white gloves and hat with navy trim. The two will reside on Jefferson avenue, Bristol.

TURNER CAPTURES 150-MILE CLASSIC IN SPEEDWAY RACE

PENNDL, April 17 — Curtis Turner captured the rugged 150-mile inaugural stock car test before an estimated 10,000 fans on the Langhorne Speedway yesterday.

Turner, driving a 1950 Oldsmobile 88, finished two laps in front of Lloyd Moore of Frewsburg, N. Y., after getting the lead for the second time on the 14th mile. The Roanoke, Va., speedster covered the distance in two hours, nine minutes, 40/100 seconds despite a costly pit stop after blowing and losing the right front tire on the 82nd go around.

The race, for 1950 and late model cars, had 28 starters but an unusual number of pit stops hampered the relatively small field. Tim Flock, driving a '49 Lincoln, set the early pace and finally finished fourth. He led for the first 43 miles but a pit stop turned the lead over to Bill Rexford with Turner riding in second spot.

Rexford was the No. 1 man until the 55th cycle, when a pit stop turned the lead over to Turner. Rexford never did threaten again after the halfway mark. Shortly after Turner reached the 75-mile point, Lyle Scott, of Port Washington, N. Y., turned his 1949 Lincoln over on the final turn, but escaped uninjured. Turner, incidentally, completed the first 75 miles in 1:02:42.

Tim Flock remained in contention until the 139-mile post, but threw a tire, then making it virtually impossible to catch Turner in the remaining 11 miles. Moore took over the runner-up spot and held it, finishing ahead of Jim Florian and Tim Flock. Lee Petty, who finished fifth, was forced out of action five laps from home because of rear-end trouble in his '49 Plymouth.
